Mrs. Rhinehart and a 16-year-old daughter Nancy were hospitalized. Nearly all of the city's regular and volunteer firemen responded to the alarm, and many remained on the scene until after 1 a.m. The flash fire apparently resulted when a gas heater exploded. The home was quickly engulfed in flames which destroyed the residence and trapped the victims. Mrs. Rhinehart and her daughter reportedly escaped by leaping from windows in the second floor. Both are listed in "fair" condition at Fayette Memorial Hospital.

SOURCE OF DESTRUCTION — Natural gas was apparently the source of destruction of the Rhinehart home Saturday. Firemen shut off the gas to the home before entering the structure and later checked the line for possible leaks. Although investigation is continuing, it is believed that the gas feed to a space heater was left in the open position and later exploded.

investigated an automobile accident Friday night which resulted in the death of Mrs. Richard Butcher, 25, of 2453 CCC Highway-E.

Her husband is presently listed in "satisfactory" condition in University Hospital, Columbus, leaving the county with three fatalities and three persons hospitalized with serious injuries during the weekend.

It seems that Mr. Rhinehart, a city street department employee, had attempted to light a space heater on the ground floor of the residence. Being unable to do so, he eventually went upstairs. The explosion occurred a short time later. It appears likely that the gas feed to the heater was not completely closed, and the gas was ignited later by some other source.

After shutting off the gas line outside the home, firemen battled the blaze for more than an hour before bringing it under control. In all, 11 regular firemen and 12 volunteer firefighters assisted at the scene. Also on the scene were Washington C.H. police officers and deputies from the Fayette County Sheriff's Department.

Firemen were at the residence until shortly before 1 a.m. The home was completely gutted by the flames, and damage to the structure was estimated at $12,000. The contents were a total loss and estimated at $5,000.

Washington C.H. firefighters were summoned to the scene Sunday when neighbors reported smoke rising from the rubble, but no fire was discovered. Firemen found only steam as water began evaporating from the charred wood and furniture. The moist air turned white in the cold and resembled smoke.

The fire was the second incident in Washington C.H. this weekend which ended in tragedy.

A FUND has been established at the Huntington Bank of Washington C.H. for the family of James B. Rhinehart, 1125 Campbell St. . . Mr. Rhinehart and his son were killed in a fire at their home Saturday . . .

The fund was initiated by Dean Cox, 2472 Staunton-Sugar Grove Road, and cash contributions may be made at the bank or by calling Cox at 335-4756 . . .

Born in Fayette County, Mr. Rhinehart had spent all of his life in the Washington C.H. area. He had been employed by the city street department for the past three years.

He is survived by his wife, the former Edna Holdren; a daughter, Nancy L., at home; four brothers, John Rhinehart, of Jeffersonville, Robert Rhinehart, of Milledgeville, Carrie Rhinehart, of Octa, and Bart Rhinehart, residing in Florida; and two sisters, Mrs. Esther Sigman, of Kettering, and Mrs. Hattie Dickey of Clarksburg. He was preceded in death by two brothers and one sister.

Jeffrey Rhinehart attended Eastside Elementary School. He is survived by his mother and sister.

Joint graveside services for Mr. Rhinehart and his son will be held at 10 a.m. Tuesday in Washington Cemetery with the Rev. Stan Toler, pastor of the Gregg Street Church of Christ in Christian Union, officiating.

There will be no calling hours. Services will be conducted under the direction of the Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home.

Temporary measure may pass

Compromise being sought over tax cut extension

WASHINGTON (AP) — A fight between President Ford and Congress that could mean higher taxes for most Americans next month may be resolved in a way that would allow both sides to save face.

The answer may become evident Wednesday when the Senate Finance Committee begins work on a House-passed bill carrying $13 billion in individual tax cuts, mainly extensions of tax cuts in effect this year.

Unless that bill becomes law by the end of the month, most Americans will see their takehome pay reduced starting in January.

Meanwhile, as Congress begins what is expected to be the next-to-last week of the 1975 session, both houses will devote time to New York City's financial problems. The House will consider a bill to amend the bankruptcy laws to facilitate handling of the city's debts in case of default. The Senate will consider an appropriations bill that includes $2.3 billion earmarked to pay for federal loans to New York already authorized by Congress.

Later in the week, the House will vote on the final version of an energy bill. Although the measure does not go as far toward U.S. energy independence as Ford has asked, his chief energy adviser, Frank G. Zarb, has urged that he sign it. Zarb told the Washington Post that he will remain in office even if Ford rejects his advice.

The Senate Judiciary Committee, meanwhile, is opening hearings into the nomination of Judge John Paul Stevens

Group still awaits Christ in house after 70-day vigil

GRANNIS, Ark. (AP) — "We don't have any special plans for Christmas," says Elizabeth Nance Bard. "We just think maybe we won't be here."

She is one of 25 persons who are closeted in a small brick house waiting for the second coming of Christ and the world to end.

The vigil began 70 days ago with believers abandoning their homes and jobs. Mrs. Bard says the group is "in no way discouraged. We just keep praying and studying and waiting for the end to come."

"Christmas, of course, is a special time," she said. "But what we're doing is even more important."

Last week Mrs. Bard broke the group's self-imposed silence to deny rumors circulating about the vigil in this town of 177.

Residents reported hearing "bloodcurdling screams" from the house, and seeing nighttime parades by vigil keepers dressed in white robes.

"There is nothing sinister, weird or strange about this," Mrs. Bard said. "Nothing goes on in the house that doesn't go on in a church — a lot of praying and religious study."

Mrs. Bard's comments sparked an editorial Saturday by the Arkansas Gazette, the state's largest newspaper, defending the group's freedom of religion.

"If they left their jobs, closed their businesses and moved to the house in accordance with what they believe one member was told by God in a vision, they have done no harm to anyone, nor have they done anything but mind their own business," the newspaper said.

The Gazette criticized county officials who "will not let well enough alone and show the same respect for religious or lack of religious belief to the 25 on the vigil that they expect for themselves."

Several school-age children were removed from the house by court order and officials had considered using health and safety codes as a pretext to evict the occupants.

"The editorial brought some sanity to the whole thing," Mrs. Bard said. "I guess people just needed to know that we're serious about this, not just kooks. People maybe just forget what religion really is."

Tuesday in Sabina

Services scheduled for accident victim

SABINA — Services for Mrs. Katherine Butcher, 25, of 2453 CCC Highway-E, will be held at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Littleton Funeral Home, Sabina.

Mrs. Butcher died Friday night after she was struck by an automobile near her home. Her husband Richard, 40, who was also struck, is reported in satisfactory condition in University Hospital, Columbus.

A former Sabina resident, Mrs. Butcher is survived by a son, Sammy Faulkner, at home; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Groves of Sabina; six brothers, Frank and Max of Sabina, Henry of Delaware St., Kenneth and James of Stouts, and Russell of Oklahoma City, Okla.; and a sister Miss Kathy Groves, at home. Mrs. Butcher attended Sabina High School and attended the Church of God in Washington C.H.

Burial will be in Milledgeville-Plymouth Cemetery, and friends may call at the funeral home from 3 to 5 and 7 until 9 p.m. Monday.

The fatal mishap occurred shortly after 6:30 p.m. Friday on the CCC Highway-E, about one mile north of Washington C.H. The couple was outside their car which was apparently parked, blocking a portion of the southbound lane of the highway.

A southbound auto driven by Miss Kelly Jo Steele, 16, of 442 East St., struck the left rear of the Butcher car and both pedestrians.

Mrs. Butcher was pronounced dead on arrival at Fayette Memorial Hospital. Her husband was taken to University Hospital. Miss Steele and two young passengers escaped injury.

An investigation by Fayette County Sheriff's deputies is continuing.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Police are looking for three men they believe robbed and stabbed to death John Shively Knight III, newspaper editor and grandson of the founder of the Knight publishing empire.

Knight, 30, was found tied up and stabbed five times Sunday morning on a bedroom floor in his luxury apartment overlooking Rittenhouse Square. One of two house guests was also stabbed as she tried to escape from the robbers.

Police Capt. Donald Patterson of homicide said the assailants are believed to have spent almost four hours in the 23rd story apartment, carefully searching and ransacking the five rooms.

He would not say what may have been stolen from the apartment. Knight had an extensive modern art collection.

Knight was found with his hands bound behind his back with some of his own neckties, detectives said.

Police said the death weapon was either a spear gun or a Bowie knife. Knight, a sportsman, had both in his apartment, and both were found there afterwards.

Several persons were brought into police headquarters for questioning early today, but there were no arrests, police said.

Yale University Hospital psychiatrist Dr. John McKinnon, 29, who was Knight's roommate at Harvard, and his wife, Rosemary McKinnon, 27, were

Ford says China trip 'beneficial'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford turns his attention to domestic matters this week after proclaiming his Asian trip "beneficial" and indicating that plans are in the works for a trip to the Mideast.

Ford returned to the White House early this morning after a 27,000-mile trip that he said contained "no minuses and many, many pluses." He climax his journey in Honolulu with a declaration of a six-point "Pacific Doctrine" for U.S. foreign policy and held out the possibility of future U.S. friendship with Vietnam and Cambodia.

Chatting with reporters just before his jet landed at nearby Andrews Air Force Base, Ford was asked if he felt it had been necessary for him to personally make the long journey to China, he replied: "The discussions we had in Peking were mandatory at my level."

Ford said he felt the talks in Indonesia and the Philippines also needed to be conducted at the heads-of-government level.

A reporter, mindful of rumors that Ford now plans to travel to the Mideast early next year, asked about any such plans.

"There are no definite plans," the President replied. But he added that he probably would go to the Mideast "at some point."

Court splits on gag order

WASHINGTON (AP) — Over the objections of three justices, the Supreme Court today refused to grant an immediate stay of a gag order imposed by Nebraska state courts to restrict news coverage of a mass murderer case.

The court postponed action on a petition by the Nebraska Press Association and other news organizations for an order blocking enforcement of the gag order.

Justices William J. Brennan, Potter Stewart and Thurgood Marshall said they would have granted the request to stay the Dec. 1 ruling by the Nebraska Supreme Court.

The court said it will decide whether to grant a full hearing in the case after receiving legal briefs from the state attorney general, due Tuesday.

asleep in the apartment when the intruders entered, police said.

Mrs. McKinnon was stabbed in her chest and hand by one of the assailants, who chased her down a long corridor and onto an elevator when she tried to escape.

Police said she staggered off the elevator at the third floor, and the assailant continued to the first floor. Police said they did not know if anyone saw the man leave the building.

Mrs. McKinnon reached the lobby by a fire escape and summoned help. She was taken to Graduate Hospital and listed in fair condition.

According to police, Knight and a date, Ellen Roche, the McKinnons and a third couple, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Janensch, dined Saturday night at a Society Hill restaurant.

Janensch, managing editor of the Daily News, a Knight-Ridder paper where Knight was project director, said he and his wife drove home at 12:20 a.m. Sunday, and the other four returned to Knight's apartment.

Several persons were brought into police headquarters for questioning early today, but there were no arrests, police said.

Dayton school plan filed today

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Slain desegregation expert Charles Glatt is expected to have a special day in court today.

His widow is to file the Dayton school-integration plan Glatt had well under way when he was shot to death as he worked Sept. 19.

"I don't want Charles to have died in vain," said Johena Glatt.

Glatt's plan, completed by his widow and several friends, focuses on pairing and clustering of schools, changing boundaries and would mean closing about five schools, Mrs. Glatt said.

It also would require busing about 20,000 children.

Glatt was appointed July 7 by U.S. District Court Judge Carl Rubin to design a plan for Dayton schools.

His widow made special arrangements to present the 180-page plan on Sunday after a delay in completing the typing. But Rubin's secretary said the filing probably would be handled today.

Pairing and clustering schools means enlarging attendance zones and splitting schools so they draw from both white and black communities, Mrs. Glatt explained.

After Glatt's death, responsibility for his work was taken over by a team headed by Miami (Ohio) University Prof. Dr. William Gordon.

"Many of us hoped we could put together a plan," said Mrs. Glatt. "It never occurred to us that we could get Charles' notes from the court."

But about two weeks ago, the court released the notes to Mrs. Glatt, who called on friends who had worked with her husband to assemble the project.

She said the plan is built on education programs rather than mixing bodies and that the difficulty in assembling her husband's work was the organization.

"We didn't do any writing on the plan," she said. "It's not my plan. It's Charles' plan."

The work bears the name Charles Glatt gave it: "The Quest for Human Dignity in One America." The "Quest for Human Dignity" was in the title of a plan he developed for Indianapolis, and his widow said he wanted it to become his trademark.

The Glatt plan is the third proposal to go before Rubin for hearings this month.

A school board proposal calls for busing the same number of students as the Glatt plan. The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People proposes busing only slightly more students — 22,000 — about half of the 44,165 in the system.

Like Glatt's proposal the board's proposal stressed educational programs, rather than racial mix.

Both the board proposal and Glatt's would provide "magnet schools" to attract students to the busing program. The board program also called for some boundary changes and new attendance zones. The NAACP plan, in contrast, concentrates on racial mix, rather than educational programming.

The Glatt proposal will not be presented in open court but as a "friend of the court." Dr. John A. Finger, a court-appointed advisor, is free to review the Glatt plan and take from it whatever he wants to submit to Rubin.

A Dayton man, Neal Bradley Long, who reportedly was upset by plans to bus students, has been charged with Glatt's murder.

Several Fayette County residents attended a National Community Education Association convention in Cincinnati last weekend.

Attending the entire convention was Hank Shaffer, local Community Education program director. He said the three-day convention included some 17 different seminars on the various aspects of community education as well as addresses by some of America's leading personalities in the field.

Shaffer commented on presentations by Jack Minzey, acting dean of the college of education at Eastern Michigan University, and Mrs. Walter Kimmel, president of the Nation Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Minzey, the foremost authority on community education, discussed the future of such programs throughout the county. He feels that community education will play an increasingly important role in American life in the coming decades.

One of the greatest attributes of community education is its ability to coordinate the efforts of various local groups, he explained. There are groups committed to the elderly, the young, the poor and to ethnic minorities, he said, but their efforts can be assisted by an organization which coordinates the efforts of all these groups to the common cause of community improvement.

Minzey also feels that community education can help control a community's waste of its own resources. He notes that school buildings frequently used by community education projects are supported by all taxpayers, yet they are utilized only by the young, eight hours a day, five days a week, nine months a year. These facilities can become a center of activity for local communities through community education programs, he said. In today's tight economy, it would seem that communities will make an effort to get all that they can out of their tax dollars, he concluded.

Mrs. Kimmel discussed the ways that parent-teacher organizations have become involved in community education programs. She stressed to local program directors the importance of contacting and cooperating with parent-teacher groups in the community.

Shaffer also attended a panel discussion on community education and recreational cooperation. Several types of programs, including city summer recreational programs directed by community education, were discussed.

Mrs. Robert Lee, a charter member of the local Community Education advisory council, attended a session on community councils, and Kaye Bartlett, one of the organizers of the local program, attended a workshop on the role of community education in the adult segment of the community.

Edwin S. Carman, born in Prairie Depot, Wood County, invented power molding machines which made possible the mass production of auto engines.

Opinion And Comment

On the average $618

Few will be surprised to learn, courtesy of the Commerce Clearing House, that the taxes Americans pay to state and local governments went up last year. In fiscal 1974 they were 41 dollars per person higher than in fiscal 1973. On the average we paid $618 each in such taxes.

The average hides a wide range of differences from state to state. At the low end of the scale - in terms of what was paid, at any rate, if not in terms of what citizens got for their taxes - were residents of Alabama: their per capita state and local taxes were $383. That contrasts with a whopping $952 per person in New York, $185 above the next highest state, Massachusetts.

The figures offer no clue as to how come New Yorkers pay that much yet still find their metropolis having to be rescued from a fiscal swamp. Some might see a connection... but that's another story.

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . By Marquis Childs

Target: Henry Kissinger

WASHINGTON — In his last two years as Secretary of State Dean Acheson was attacked by a form of congressional and public assault that had become known as McCarthyism. Something like this same attack from a variety of quarters is being directed at Secretary of State Henry Kissinger.

It is as though we could exorcise all our troubles in the world by putting the principal agent of foreign policy to the stake.

The Pike committee has cited him for contempt for refusing to surrender private documents of low-level officials bearing on policy decisions. When Congress returns from the Thanksgiving vacation, the House may or may not support its erratic intelligence committee.

But more than the conflict over such relatively minor matters is the effort to undermine the Kissinger policy of trying to bring at least a pause in the nuclear arms race. Waved about is the allegation of a missing letter that, if it could be found, would show that the United States had condoned serious violations of the current nuclear agreement by the Soviet Union.

I believe that the facts about this cloak-and-dagger mystery, of a piece with the fantastic revelations out of the past, are as follows:

First, no one has ever been able to find such a letter. It cannot be found despite an exhaustive search in the files of the National Security Council, in the President's personal files, in the files of former Secretary of Defense James Schlesinger nor anywhere in the Pentagon.

Second, those familiar with the charges the missing - or nonexistent - letter makes are convinced they are minor violations. These matters involving the wizardry of modern weapons are so abstruse as to be almost beyond the understanding of the layman.

But apparently at one point the United States briefly made use of advanced radar in a way that was technically a violation of the Soviet agreement. This was then taken up by the Soviets. Having been discovered after about two months, a protest to Moscow brought an end to the violation.

The mysteries of telemetry, the reading of the other side's most secret reports on testing, have also played a part in the give-and-take here at home and in Moscow over the nuclear agreement.

The prospect, and a grim prospect certainly, is that the whole matter of an agreement on offensive nuclear weapons, tentatively reached when President Ford met with Communist Party Chairman Leonid Brezhnev in Vladivostok a year ago, will go by the board. That can mean a year's delay, as the politics of detente or no detente resound loudly on the hustings.

In the intricacies of Kremlin politics, Brezhnev, who have been able and willing to make concessions, may be replaced and by whom during that year's delay it is impossible to know or even to guess.

At one point Kissinger backed the cruise missile, when it was a minor diversion of perhaps $30 million in the defense budget, as a trade-off in future negotiations. He has said recently that he never foresaw that the Pentagon would fall in love with the cruise missile, a new kind of low-level nuclear attack weapon which has become a serious obstacle to agreement.

The ruling came in a lawsuit brought by a couple against the Riverside Methodist Hospital in Columbus over a blood test performed five years earlier.

Ohio Perspective

Malpractice time limits are upheld

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — You've had surgery. Something doesn't feel quite right, but the surgeon assures you everything has gone well, and you trust his judgment.

It's three years later when you discover a lab test was performed improperly, and the ailment remained. Can you sue the doctor or hospital for medical malpractice?

The Supreme Court recently let stand a lower appellate court decision that you cannot.

The lower court, the 10th District Court of Appeals in Franklin County, said that the statute of limitations would bar such a suit, even though the alleged hospital error was not discovered until after the time limit had passed.

The 10th District decision relied on earlier rulings which strictly apply the statute of limitations—one year for suits against doctors, two years for negligence suits against hospitals.

The ruling came in a lawsuit brought by a couple against the Riverside Methodist Hospital in Columbus over a blood test performed five years earlier.

The couple's lawyer argued that the discovery of a foreign object in the body and the discovery of an erroneous lab test should present no legal difference. The 10th District disagreed.

same Rh blood factor as its mother. The Rh factors actually were different, a fact the parents did not discover until three years later, after two unsuccessful pregnancies.

The mother contended the erroneous blood test caused her to be "sensitized" against Rh-positive fetal blood, in effect preventing her from having more children. Had the blood test been performed properly, she said, a drug could have been administered to stop the "sensitization."

The trial court dismissed the suit, saying it had been filed too late. The 10th District agreed.

In its opinion, the 10th District said the Supreme Court has allowed only one exception to the time limit for filing lawsuits—cases in which foreign objects, such as forceps or sponges, have been left in the body after surgery.

In those cases, the time limit begins to run when the foreign objects are discovered.

The couple's lawyer argued that the discovery of a foreign object in the body and the discovery of an erroneous lab test should present no legal difference. The 10th District disagreed.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Mom wants to bow out of bride's bizarre wedding

DEAR ABBY: Our 24-year-old daughter, Phyllis, is getting married, and her plans are unbelievable.

In the first place, Phyllis and Rick have been living together for two years and they have a 4-month-old baby. Phyllis wants us to walk down the aisle with the baby in her arms and Rick by her side!

Phyllis' father and I have been divorced for 14 years, but Phyllis wants us to walk down the aisle together. Then she's got my present husband and her father's present wife teamed up as a "couple" to walk down the aisle together. (Have you ever heard of anything so asinine?)

The wedding will be held in church and the kids are paying for everything. Phyllis and Rick wrote their own vows, and they claim the pastor approved all these plans. Can you believe it?

This wedding should take place in a zo-not a church. I am happy that Phyllis is finally going to marry Rick, but do you think I should take part in this farce, or should I stay home with a migraine headache?

MOTHER OF THE BRIDE

DEAR MOTHER: Unconventional as the wedding may seem, it's the bride's day, and she may do things her way. Please don't get a migraine. Your daughter needs you, and you'd be missing one of the most unorthodox weddings of all time.

DEAR ABBY: This past year, my husband and I have entertained three couples for dinner in our home. Upon leaving, all have said, "We will have to have you over soon."

Well, "soon" never came with any of them.

When we accidentally ran into them somewhere, they say, "We've been meaning to call you...."

Abby, these three couples get together often. We know because we see their cars parked in front of the homes of one or the other. However, none of them has made an effort to include us.

My husband says that I am foolish to stand on ceremonies—that as long as we enjoy their company (and we do) I should invite them back.

I think three invitations without being invited back is enough. I'd like your opinion.

ALWAYS THE HOSTESS

DEAR ALWAYS: I'm with you. One for one is the proper ratio, but two for none should be the absolute limit.

DEAR ABBY: Eleven years ago, when my son was 5-years-old, I was financially unable to care for him so I placed him in a home where I knew he would be properly provided for. I had no choice, Abby.

Now he is 16, and when he visits me, he makes demands, uses abusive language and treats me in a most cruel and insulting manner.

I feel that this is his way of punishing me for having put him in a home.

What is the best way to cope with this situation? I don't appreciate this type of treatment from my own son. Thank you.

ABUSED

DEAR ABUSED: If you can't make him understand that you placed him in a home because you thought it would be best for him, perhaps a clergyman or counselor can. Your son desperately needs to be assured that he was loved—not abandoned.

Annual yuletide party held by garden club

The annual Christmas party of the Washington Garden Club was held at Anderson's Restaurant, when Mrs. Robert Wilson read a Christmas poem for the opening. Members named a Christmas decoration which she was making in response to roll call. New year books were distributed and all urged to save sales receipts from Hidy's for the club.

A chartered bus trip to Holland, Mich., will be made for local garden clubs. The date and plans will be announced later.

At each place setting were ceramic snowman, Santa, Christmas tree and an angel, all made by Mrs. Wilson. Mrs. Herbert Dawes made poinsettia refrigerator magnets and Mrs. Gilbert Hooks made mice from marbles for the members.

Some of the projects for the club this year will be the planting of flowers at the Veteran's Memorial, War Dead Memorial and the Morris Sharpe Memorial on the Court House lawn, also the Mahan Building project, and taking care of the lily beds and flower bed at the Fairgrounds, and the plantings for Arbor Day at Miami Trace High School.

The members will decorate the boy's cottage at the Children's Home before Saturday, make a door swag and centerpieces for the dining room table and mantel, and also purchase gifts for the boys. Christmas napkins with Santa completed the dinner setting, and a gift exchange was enjoyed by the 12 members and one guest, Mrs. Olive Brookover, who was also welcomed as a new member. Others present were Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Eulahia Wade, Mrs. Jess Robnett, Mrs. Herbert Dawes, Mrs. Walter Wilson, Mrs. Eugene Cook, Mrs. Jean T. Craig, Mrs. Donald Meredith, Mrs. T.N. Willis, Mrs. Gilbert Hooks, Mrs. Dale Merritt, and Mrs. Orville Hurt.

There will be no meeting in January. Mrs. Robert Wilson will be hostess for the February meeting, when the annual birthday party will take place at noon. A carry-in luncheon will be held and cheer sisters will be revealed. Jerry Cremeans will show a film at 2:30 p.m.

Class elects new officers

The Christian Crusaders Class of South Side Church of Christ met in Fellowship Hall Saturday evening. The meeting was preceded by a covered dish supper and Rev. Charles Richmond gave the invocation.

Following the congenial time spent around the tables, Howard Brooks presided at the business session. Mr. Brooks will again serve as president, vice president, Mrs. Grant Whiteside; secretary, Mrs. J.G. Jordan; and treasurer, Mrs. John Schiller. Mrs. Schiller reported she had sent a poinsettia to Mrs. Arminta Chaney who has been ill, and also for her birthday. A round robin card was sent to her.

Rev. Mr. Richmond brought devotions. He read Scripture from the Book of Luke, regarding the angels chorus. He read the words to the song "O Little Town of Bethlehem," written by Philip Brooks, who was inspired to write the song while on a trip to The Holy Land.

Mrs. Thomas Willis, program leader, conducted interesting contests and closed with the singing of Christmas Carols. The class officers will be hosts for the first meeting of the New Year.

Fayette Garden Club to meet

"The Legend of Christmas Traditions" will be presented by Mrs. Howard Perrill when the Fayette Garden Club meets in the home of Mrs. Edwin Thompson, 3998 Washington Waterloo Rd., at 1:30 p.m. Friday.

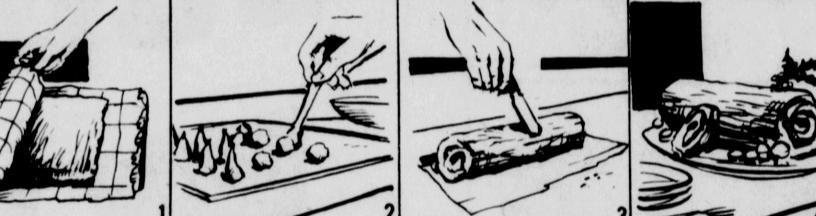

Assisting hostesses will be Mrs. Walter Thompson, Mrs. Larry Lehman, Mrs. Hugh Smith and Mrs. Peter Smetzer.

Mrs. Ralph Scott will present devotions, and a homemade gift exchange will be a feature.

Fayette County Choral Society to recess until Jan. 5

The Fayette County Choral Society will not meet again for rehearsals until Jan. 5 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Case, at 8 p.m.

French cooking made easy

BUCHE DE NOEL

No French Christmas celebration would be complete without a buche de Noel, the Christmas cake baked and decorated to look like a Yule log. This American version is made with rich, buttery Blue Bonnet Margarine. Be adventurous this holiday and create an edible Christmas "tree."

BUCHE DE NOEL

1 cup heavy cream
2 tablespoon sugar
1 tablespoon cocoa
(15½x10½x1-inch) sponge cake layer
2-3rds cup sugar
3 tablespoons water
2 egg whites
½ teaspoon cream of tartar
Dash salt
6 square (1-ounce each) semi-sweet chocolate
½ teaspoons vanilla extract
½ cup (1 stick) blue Bonnet Margarine softened
Cocoa
Confectioners' sugar

Whip heavy cream with 2 tablespoons sugar and 1 tablespoon cocoa until mixture forms stiff peaks. Unroll cooled sponge cake. (1) Spread with whipped cream; reroll. Place cake on a serving dish and refrigerate.

Heat 2-3rds cup sugar and water over high heat until sugar is dissolved. Cover and boil rapidly for 1 minute. Uncover pan and continue boiling to 238 degrees F. (soft ball stage).

Meanwhile, beat egg whites with cream of tartar and salt until stiff peaks form.

While beating egg whites at slow speed, slowly add hot sugar syrup in a thin stream. Continue beating at high speed for 6 minutes, or until mixture is cool. Set aside ¼ cup of meringue mixture for mushrooms.

Beat melted chocolate into remaining meringue until well combined. Add vanilla; gradually beat in softened margarine. Chill frosting until of easy spreading consistency.

Grease and flour a baking sheet. Using a teaspoon drop some of the reserved ¼ cup meringue mixture onto baking sheet and form mushroom caps. Shape the remaining meringue mixture into pointed cones for stems. (2) Bake in a very slow oven (200 degrees F.) for 20 minutes. Turn off oven and let mushrooms cool in oven. To assemble, pierce a hole in bottom of each cap and insert stem.

GEL DESSERT — Sliced fresh apples and low-calorie cranberry juice cocktail combine in a Whip based on unflavored gelatin for just the kind of diet dessert that permits you to leave the table feeling satisfied instead of deprived!

Definitely in season: a good gel dessert for dieters

Hooray for the sensible and humane approach to dieting! Waistline watchers aren't angels, and crash diets work for just so long. Out of boredom or hunger, the best-intentioned dieter may succumb to temptation; then it's back to the same old weight.

The diet plan that works for keeps recognizes the fact that food is one of life's basic pleasures. The dieter needs to learn to eat in moderation at each meal, which is all the more reason for having every morsel taste as delicious as possible. And this Apple Cranberry Whip dessert does.

This is one of many wonderful low-calorie dishes you can make with Knox Unflavored Gelatin. (Knox has only 28 calories per envelope.) This is the blend 'n' gel kind of recipe that requires no cooking in the preparation — just the step of heating the liquid to dissolve the gelatin granules. All the work is done in the blender container. Made with low-calorie cranberry juice cocktail and fresh tart apples, this whip is a splendid treat for dieters and non-dieters, too. The unflavored gelatin permits all the fine natural fruit flavors to come through at their best.

It's as easy to unmold the whip as to prepare it. Dip the mold into warm (not hot) water to the depth of gelatin for about 5 seconds. Carefully loosen gel from side of container with tip of sharp knife; tilt or shake container gently. Invert serving dish on top of container. Hold both firmly together and turn over (right side up). Shake gently until gelatin slips from container onto serving dish. If gel does not come loose, repeat process.

APPLE CRANBERRY WHIP

2 envelopes Knox Unflavored Gelatin
2 cups low-calorie cranberry juice cocktail

4 cups sliced tart apples
Non-nutritive sweetener equivalent to ½ cup sugar

4 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon red food coloring

½ cup non-fat dry milk powder
½ cup ice water

In 5-cup blender container, sprinkle unflavored gelatin over ½ cup cranberry juice cocktail; let stand until moistened. Heat remaining 1½ cups cranberry juice to boiling and pour into blender. Cover and process at low speed until gelatin is dissolved, about 2 minutes. Add apples, sweetener, 3 tablespoons lemon juice, nutmeg, and food coloring; process at high speed until apples are pureed, about 2 minutes. Turn into large bowl and chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture mounds when dropped from a spoon.

In small bowl, beat milk with ice water and remaining 1 tablespoon lemon juice until soft peaks form. Fold into cranberry mixture. Turn into 5-cup mold and chill until firm. Makes about 8 servings, 150 calories each.

BARBECUE SAUCE

Quick to make and really good.

2 tablespoons corn oil
1 cup chopped onion (1 medium)
½ cup dark corn syrup
½ cup catchup
½ cup water
1-3rd cup cider vinegar
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
2 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper

In a 10-inch skillet heat the oil and add the onion; cook gently until wilted; add remaining ingredients; simmer, stirring occasionally, for 15 minutes. Makes about 2 cups. Store, tightly covered, in the refrigerator; keeps well. To use, heat sauce, add sliced leftover cooked meat or poultry and reheat.

China disappointed by Ford's visit?

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Chinese were disappointed in President Ford's visit and the absence of a communique indicates their displeasure, a professor of Chinese history says.

Ford and Chinese officials downplayed the significance of not issuing a communique following the four-day visit by saying it would be superficial and meaningless. "It's a polite way of avoiding an issue," said Samuel C. Chu, director of East Asian Studies at Ohio State University.

Chu said in an interview that Chinese officials had hoped for establishment of full relations by 1975 following former President Nixon's visit in 1972.

Nixon's seven-day visit in February 1972 was followed by the "Shanghai Communique," which spelled out terms under which China and the United States would seek to broaden cultural, trade and diplomatic ties.

"Peking had hoped for diplomatic relations by this time when the 1972 communique was issued," Chu said. "The Chinese are undoubtedly disappointed."

No substantive exchanges can be expected until full diplomatic relations are established, Chu said.

WASHINGTON REPORT

From

WILLIAM H. HARSHA
Representative To Congress
6th District, Ohio

China's reasons for pursuing warmer relations with the United States are quite evident, he said.

According to Chu, China fears Russia's military power and "would like some U.S. military presence in Asia" even though China cannot officially say that without compromising Chinese ideological opposition to U.S. intervention in foreign countries.

China is also extremely interested in acquiring American technology, particularly in the fields of computers and transportation, Chu said.

He visited his homeland in September and says no one can reliably predict the future of U.S.-China relations because of inevitable political shakeups in the near future.

"Within a year or two Mao (Communist Party Chairman Mao Tse-tung) and Chou (Premier Chou En-lai) should be gone from the scene," Chu said. Mao is 81 years old and Chou is 76.

"In China, politics affect everything. The change of leaders will have a profound effect on everything ... and no one can say with certainty what changes will occur," Chu said.

Fremont, Ohio, stands on the site of old Fort Stephenson built in 1813.

When the hosting Red Chinese warned President Ford recently not to trust the Soviet Union, it was certainly not advice he had not received before—but well worth hearing again.

While the motives of the Chinese Communists are obviously highly suspect and could hardly be expected to reflect any concern for our best interests, their message that U.S.—Soviet detente is a misguided policy is timely, if not painfully accurate.

The warnings against American concessions to the Russians and against blind trust in the integrity of Kremlin negotiators are by no means limited to Red China, which understandably has its own ax to grind.

We have far better sources here at—qualified, highly respected, knowledgeable and impassioned voices of dissent to the adoption of a national policy of unilateral disarmament and detente at any price.

One of those voices is retired Admiral Elmo Zumwalt, former Chief of Naval Operations, who said recently that the Russians are cheating in arms agreements and that violations go unreported because Secretary of State Henry Kissinger won't admit that detente is a "catastrophic failure."

The Soviets' continuing military build-up and their poor track record on honoring agreements certainly lend credence to the Admiral's contention. Fortunately for Admiral Zumwalt—but not the nation—he is retired and not subject to White House reprisals for criticizing Kissinger.

Others have been less fortunate, like former Secretary of Defense James Schlesinger, a capable no-nonsense advocate of a strong military capability and a foe of one-sided agreements with the Russians.

The firing of Schlesinger raises serious questions about the Administration's desire and ability to maintain a strong defense posture and to protect American interests in the Salt II negotiations.

Shirley Verrett scores triumph

MILAN, Italy (AP) — American soprano Shirley Verrett has scored a new triumph at Milan's La Scala opera house, singing Lady Macbeth in Verdi's opera Macbeth for the first time in her career.

"She was great," Renata Tebaldi, herself an opera star, said after Sunday night's opening performance. An Italian critic said, "She was a splendid Lady Macbeth. She is a great singer, a splendid actress and a real artist."

Miss Verrett, a native of New Orleans who grew up in Los Angeles, was making her fourth premiere at La Scala. She was warmly applauded and received several calls after every act of the opera.

Find man guilty of cop-killing

CINCINNATI (AP)—Cleophus Collins was found guilty over the weekend of aggravated murder in the fatal shooting Aug. 27 of a plainclothes Cincinnati policeman.

A six-man, six-woman jury reached the verdict Saturday in Hamilton County Common Pleas Court after a day and a half of deliberations. Collins, a 52-year-old unemployed father of five, contended he shot in self defense after being confronted by two men with guns. Police officer William Loftin, 36, died from bullet wounds.

Claim American ideals need resuscitated

NEW YORK (AP) — The models of the past, said David Lilienthal, are inappropriate to the "resuscitation" of America after what he terms a serious illness — a period of recession and indecision and inaction, public and private.

This is the opinion of the man who headed the Tennessee Valley Authority, which had its origins in the economically troubled New Deal days of the 1930s, and which is today the nation's largest resources development project.

"It's a different country today," he said. In his opinion, the nation is stalled, somewhat dispirited, descriptions that were also applied to it in the 1930s, but there are immense differences too.

"Today, the centers of human energy and imagination are widely scattered," he said. "Our sources of energy of all kinds are dispersed. We have multiple sources of strength. The future of America is one of diversity rather than concentration."

In short, Lilienthal urges Americans to look to themselves, to their private organizations, to local leaders, rather than to the bureaucracies of big government or big business which, he feels, may have forgotten their mission.

"It isn't because of the size of big business that I am afraid," he said. "It is the centralization of decision making. It has damped the initiative and managerial skills within the units," he said. "In centralized decision making, bigness defeats itself."

Lilienthal has faith in diversity. "In the smaller units of a big company is where you find the resourcefulness, the energy, the imagination. Energizing leadership isn't to be found in one place; it is diffused."

He continued: "It's no accident the railroads are bankrupt. This is the conclusion of a lack of spreading the decision making. The great moguls dried up their sources of energy and inventiveness."

The railroads, he said, lost touch with reality, with the needs of the people they were to serve, with their own communities and employees. They cut themselves off from creativity."

Leadership is not centralized, he repeated. "There is more leadership in local communities than in Washington or New York or other centers of corporate or government activity, and there always has been."

The centralization of American industry, "the decision making and leadership within big companies," is the next step in reviving the spirit of entrepreneurship," he said.

In his view, the spirit, the energy, the leadership is released by a "devolution of responsibility closer to contact with people and where the action is and less with bureaucracy." Leadership rises from within rather than descends from above.

He concedes that "no major activity today doesn't require government action, but participation, not intervention," especially for financing and assistance in coordinating the various elements of project.

But the leadership, he reiterates, must come from private efforts. He sees special opportunities ahead for companies structured in private enterprise involving themselves in public service — at a profit.

"A demonstration of furthering the public interest through private efforts will do as much to restore public confidence that has been shaken in government as about any other single thing," Lilienthal said.

His own company, Development and Resources Corp., is a model of that. Founded 20 years ago, after Lilienthal left the chairmanship of the Atomic Energy Commission, it is profit-making concern that tackles large scale, integrated, natural and human resource development throughout the world.

It has developed an entire province of Iran, planned for Brazil and Colombia the future developments of entire valleys, conducted floodplain and environmental studies in the United States.

None of these projects could succeed, or even have meaning, he believes, without utilizing and developing human resources, and serving the needs of human beings. Humans are both the source of the energy and the goal of its usage.

Keeping that in mind, while shedding our defensive attitude and instead demonstrating in small ways that problems can be dealt with at the local level, the country "can change almost overnight," said Lilienthal.

"I think we needn't look at these things as if they take forever," he concluded. "We can turn things around much sooner than you think — perhaps five years to turn defensiveness into being American, affirmative and vital."

TV Viewing

NEW YORK (AP) — Do viewers these days ever really listen to what's being said on television? Or do they simply watch, munch potato chips and doze off?

We began worrying about this the other day while watching, munching potato chips and dozing off. It made us wonder how many people actually would notice slight changes in oft-heard phrases on television.

Suppose, for example, a commercial stressing that the Widget compact car gets 41 miles per gallon on the highway and 30 in the city ended by cautioning: "Actual mileage won't vary according to individual driving habits."

One wonders if there'd be an uproar if someone looked at the supposedly clean shirt of a man, then dismayed his wife by crying, "Square around the collar, square around the collar!"

Would you do a double-take if the TV announcer said, "Chico and the Man" is taped in Hollywood before a dead studio audience?"

What about: "Portions of this show were post-recorded."

Or: "All in the Family" will be back in just one hour."

Watch an old movie about the U.S. Cavalry and the Indians. See if you'd feel something's wrong just before the big battle scene when the grizzled old scout tells the headstrong young officer:

"I don't like it, lieutenant. It's too noisy."

See if you'd wonder about that bath soap commercial where a handsome dude passes a young couple and the girl sighs and says he smells nice, whereupon her beau complains: "But I use a deodorant soap."

And she says: "That's the trouble. You smell."

On Sundays, who really listens to the audio portion of pro football games on TV? We defy you to find anyone who remembers that just before kickoff, the National Anthem singer sang:

"Ohhhh, say can you seeee ... by the ah, um, er, light...."

We also doubt anyone would realize it if Al DeRogatis cried, "O.J. Simpson has just scored the 33rd home run of his career."

Television news seems to be a biggie when it comes to watching, but not listening carefully. Take President Ford's China trip, for example. Who'd really notice if the anchorman said:

"White House spokesman Ron Ziegler described the talks as frank, cordial and silly."

Well, maybe a few viewers would. But we'd bet they're so swamped with

The One-Minute Thank You. 36¢ or less.

Cyndy!

Leslie!

You're really terrific. Every year you remember my birthday.

How could I forget the best neighbor I ever had?

I wish we were neighbors again.
It's been eighteen years, and I miss you just as much as the day you left Ohio.

Well, you know how much we miss you.

We really had some great times back then.

That's for sure. Just talking to you brings back a lot of memories. I'm glad you called.

Me too. Take care now, and thanks again.

You bet, bye-bye.

A one-minute out-of-state long distance call can mean so much, and it costs so little.

After 5 pm, a one-minute out-of-state direct-dialed call is only 36¢ or less.

Why, compared to writing and sending a letter, it's faster, easier and so much more personal.

Of course, if you want to say more than thank you, it's even a better bargain. Because each additional minute is less. Making a 10-minute visit as far as California just $2.70, plus tax — it's even less after 11 pm, all day Saturday and until 5 pm Sunday.

So keep our handy After-Five Calling Card handy. For saying thank you. Or get well. Or happy birthday. Or anything.

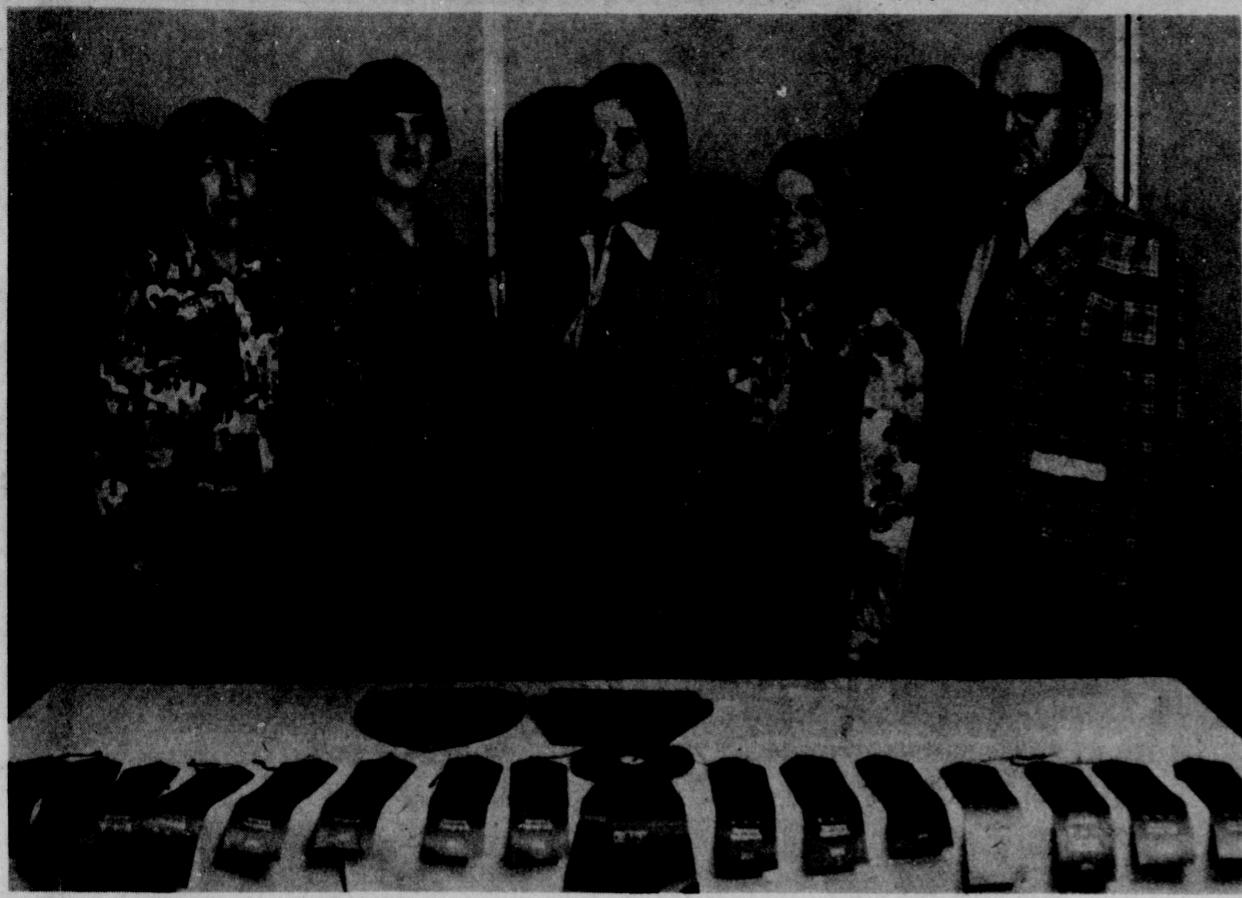

The After-Five Out-Of-State Calling Card.

Ohio 4-H livestock judging team places high in national contests

Ohio's 4-H livestock judging team competed in three national contests in November, placing second in two of them and fourth in the other.

"The team members did a good job and are to be congratulated," said team coaches Herbert Barnes and Richard Smith, extension animal science specialists at Ohio State University.

The eight team members, which included three Fayette County 4-H'ers, rotated, four of them participating in each contest.

At the Keystone International contest in Harrisburg, Pa., the team placed second overall, second in sheep and swine, and tenth in cattle judging. Team members were Mike Sollars, a junior at Miami Trace High School; Susan Wilson, a 1975 graduate of Washington Senior High School and a freshman majoring in home economics at Ohio State University; Jeff Wilt, a junior at Miami Trace High School, and Robin Dishong, of Amesville, a freshman majoring in animal science at Ohio State University.

Sollars is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Sollars, 2463 Bunker Hill-Glendorn Road; Miss Wilson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace K. Wilson, 530 Mayfair Drive, and Wilt is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Wilt, 3736 U.S. 35-S.

At the Eastern National Livestock Exposition in Timonium, Md., the team placed second overall. Participating in the contest were Bob Agle, of South Vienna, Harvey Stanfield, of Manchester, Rick Fogle, of Marion, and Dan Westlake, of Marysville, Ohio placed second in judging cattle and swine and third in sheep judging.

The North American Livestock Exposition at Louisville, Ky., say Ohio's team placing first in swine, second in sheep, and fourth overall. Team members were Bob Agle, Robin Dishong, Harvey Stanfield and Susan Wilson. A total of 132 judges from 32 states participated in the contest.

Industries pay for rails

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Eight Lebanon, Ohio industries have signed an agreement to pay up to $30,000 a year to subsidize a 4.9 mile section of the Penn Central Railroad scheduled for abandonment.

James Obrig, executive vice president of the Lebanon Chamber of Commerce, said the agreement was needed for the state to apply for a subsidy from the new Conrail System which goes into operation Feb. 7.

He said the local industries could back out later if the costs, estimated at about $63 per railroad car, become too high. He said the estimated cost of upgrading the line is about $176,000. Sixty-six per cent of this will be sought in federal subsidies, Obrig said.

"I've been told by state officials that Lebanon is the only community in the State of Ohio getting up on its hind legs and protesting the abandonment of a rail line," Obrig said.

"There is no question that if we are going to maintain an industrial community here, we have to do this," said Richard Morrison, of Valley Kitchens, Inc., one of the seven who signed.

Trophy awarded to emblem designer

BLOOMINGBURG — A trophy was awarded Friday to Mrs. Elaine McNeil, 101 Biddle Blvd., Bloomingburg, by the Bloomingburg Bicentennial Commission for her winning composition of a new emblem for the village.

Selected from 12 countywide entries, the bicentennial design will serve as the official emblem for Bloomingburg, and will be used on all village stationery and official stamps.

On hand to present the trophy, donated by Mi-De Trophy Shop and the Huntington Bank of Washington C.H., was Mayor Max E. Grim. He was accompanied in the ceremony by Miss Becky Sollars, chairman of the special activities committee of the Bloomingburg Bicentennial Commission. Miss Sollars, 49 Lincoln St., is a teacher at Miami Trace High School.

Though Mrs. McNeil will be moving to Hillsboro within two weeks, she still plans to maintain close ties with the Bloomingburg Bicentennial Commission, and to keep up on her artwork, a talent she's been developing since she was nine.

Contest entries were judged by the 15-member bicentennial commission.

Hays becomes favorite son for 6 east Ohio districts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wayne L. Hays, believing none of the announced Democratic presidential candidates has a chance of winning the White House, says he will run as a favorite son in up to six eastern Ohio districts in the June primary.

The Ohio Democrat implied that he might try to control convention delegates for Minnesota Sen. Hubert Humphrey, who he labeled as the only Democrat who "most certainly" could win the presidency.

If Hays ran in all six districts and won, he would control 30 of Ohio's 152 delegates to the Democratic National Convention in New York next July.

A Hays aide said the congressman, in addition to his own 18th congressional district, probably will run in the 10th, 14th, 16th, 17th and 19th districts.

Those six districts, representing more than 30 counties, stretch along the eastern side of the state from Youngstown down to the bottom tip of Lawrence County.

Hays said he fears eastern Ohio voters may be made to cast ballots for delegates committed to candidates who will surely lose in November.

He said Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts "could" win the presidency, but only Humphrey is sure to win. None of the 10 Democrats actively seeking the nomination has a chance, he added.

If Hays controlled the 30 delegates in the eastern Ohio districts, he could become an important broker in the Ohio delegation if the convention were unable to decide on a nominee.

Zoo throws Yule party for animals

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Do you have an elephant that's hard to fit? A temperamental duck? The Columbus Zoo has the answer to your Christmas shopping worries.

The zoo is throwing a party for the animals on Dec. 21. Admission is free but guests are encouraged to bring gifts of the animals' favorite foods.

Here are a few of the zoo's suggestions:

Cereal is popular—sheep and goats love the frosted variety; deer prefer plain and monkeys like theirs with bananas. Elephants like peanuts, candy and coconuts. Ducks and rabbits are fond of popcorn, lettuce, bread and celery while monkeys also go for grapes and oranges and gorillas like onions and sweet potatoes.

Shiny-papered boxes will be placed under a lighted Christmas tree to hold the gifts, since animals, like humans, have to eat their goodies under supervision so they won't get sick.

Another box will be placed near the tree for children's entries in a contest to name the baby rhinoceros born last week to the zoo's Sampson and Delilah. Officials hope its sex will be determined by the time the winning name is selected Dec. 23.

Zoo animals such as donkeys, lambs, goats and deer will be living figures around a creche in the Children's Zoo area, and other residents who don't mind December weather—gnus, zebras, buffalo and snow leopards—will be outside in their areas.

Thomas C. Mendenhall, 1841-1924, a native of Hanoverton, Columbian County, first professor of mechanics at Ohio State University, as superintendent of the office of Standard Weights and Measures helped to determine some of the units of measuring electricity.

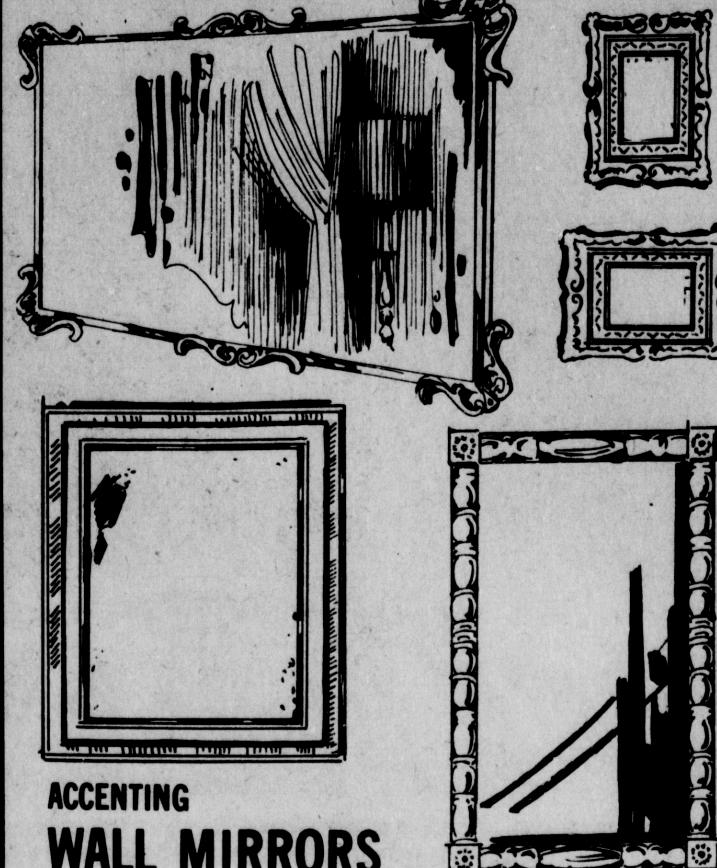

"I'd rather have an uncommitted delegation of intelligent people who can make up their mind on the spot" than have the delegation committed to one or two candidates going into the convention, Hays said.

"I'd just like to see Ohio send a fairly cohesive group of delegates to the convention that will have some influence and some weight."

Hays made no mention of any plans for a statewide favorite son effort, but said if party leaders in additional congressional districts "called and said they wanted to join the group (of eastern districts), they wouldn't get turned down."

Mishap injures four persons

Four persons were injured in a two-car collision at the intersection of Kennedy Avenue and S. Fayette Street at 3:20 p.m. Saturday, city police reported.

Jack M. Hidy, 57, of 1226 S. Main St., one of the drivers, sustained contusions of the chest; Charles W. Newland, 34, Columbus, the other driver, sustained contusions of both knees and his two passengers, Debra J. Newland, 24, Columbus, and Kay L. Newland, 13, Columbus, were also injured. Debra Newland sustained a head contusion and Kay Newland sustained a contusion of the left leg. All but Charles Newland were treated and released at Fayette Memorial Hospital. Police reported the Newland auto demolished and charged Hidy with failure to yield right of way at an intersection.

Several additional accidents were reported by city police over the weekend and the Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported three traffic mishaps.

POLICE

SUNDAY, 2:32 a.m. — A rear-end collision at the intersection of S. North and Second streets involved cars driven by Roger D. Parsons, 21, Robinson Road, and Teresa A. Parsons, 18, of 907 Forest St. Ms. Parsons was charged with failure to maintain an assured clear distance ahead.

SATURDAY, 5:44 p.m. — A car driven by Patricia A. West, 35, of 218 Kennedy Ave., backed from Robert's Drive-Inn onto S. Fayette Street and struck a car driven by Elizabeth J. Taylor, 18, Greenfield. Ms. West was cited for backing without safety or caution.

5:34 p.m. — An accident in the 100 block of W. Court Street involved cars driven by Elizabeth S. Kelley, 27, of 725 Forest St. and Elizabeth M. Gilmore, 419 Broadway. Police charged Ms. Gilmore with backing without safety.

1:41 p.m. — A car driven by Robert J. Reed Jr., 27, of 707 Peabody Ave., attempted to avoid an unidentified vehicle which had turned right on red at the intersection of Columbus Avenue and S. Elm Street in front of his car and in so doing Reed struck a car driven by Floyd H. Perone, 39, of 628 McArthur Way. The car which caused the mishap did not stop.

12:45 p.m. — A car driven by David L. Junk, 16, Chillicothe, slid on wet pavement and crashed into a truck driven by Rickie Martindale, 22, of 913 E. Temple St. at the intersection of Court and North streets.

11:10 a.m. — Martindale (the same driver from the above accident) was involved in yet another traffic mishap when a car driven by Darwin D. Bennington, 19, Mount Sterling, slid off wet pavement at the intersection of Temple and Delaware streets and stuck Martindale's truck. Police cited Bennington for failure to maintain assured clear distance.

11:04 a.m. — An accident at the intersection on Court and North streets involved autos driven by Ron Krammes, 28, Bloomingburg, and Norton E.

Plymale, 75, of 717 Oak St. Plymale was charged by police with failure to yield right of way.

10:53 a.m. — An accident at the intersection of Columbus Avenue and S. Elm Street involved a pick-up truck driven by Logan D. Ramey, 69, of 119 Clearview Drive, and a car driven by Mary Knisley, 54, of 2290 CCC Highway-NE. Damage to both autos was estimated by police to be moderate and Ms. Knisley was charged with failure to obey a traffic device.

10:40 a.m. — A rear-end collision at the intersection of Columbus Avenue and Wilson Street involved cars driven by Olive Ramey, 64, of 119 Clearview Drive, and Adam T. Veisgruber, 36, Massillon. Ms. Ramey and her passenger, Wyatt Roberts, 90, of 1632 Washington Ave., claimed injury from the mishap, but were not treated according to records at Fayette Memorial Hospital.

Hospital. Police reported neither driver cited.

SHERIFF

SUNDAY, 10:35 a.m. — An accident at the intersection of Biddle and Lincoln streets in Bloomingburg involved cars driven by Ralph W. Thomas, 20, Bloomingburg, and Jerry G. Thomas, 32, Bloomingburg. Sheriff's deputies estimated damage as minor.

SATURDAY, 4 p.m. — A car driven by Samuel J. Coil, 33, South Solon, was severely damaged when it struck a cow belonging to Donald P. Woods, 133 W. Circle Ave., on Ohio 41, one-half mile north of Wildwood Road.

1:15 p.m. — A car driven by Larry D. Love, 17, Jeffersonville, was severely damaged when Love lost control of the vehicle while traveling east of Gregg Road, three-tenths of a mile west of Carr Road and struck a fence and tree owned by Marvin Stockwell, Jeffersonville.

Subdivision residents discuss sewage rates

Residents of the Culpepper No. 3 Subdivision off Ohio 41-N were meeting with the Fayette County Board of Commissioners Monday morning to discuss water and sewer service to their homes.

The commissioners announced last week that they would be operating sewer and water facilities for the subdivision beginning January 1.

The residents approached the board to discuss the poor quality of water in the area and the announced rate of $12.50 per month. The residents would pay a fixed rate for water, regardless of usage.

Approximately 10 homeowners wished to express their feelings that the water was of poor quality and that the rates were too high.

In order to justify their position, the commissioners asked engineer Don Conley and Orville Dixon, superintendent of the city waste treatment plant, to address the group.

Conley, who designed the sewer treatment system, and Dixon explained how sewage is treated and what costs are involved. Most of those attending were somewhat surprised at the expense involved.

The commissioners noted that the water in the subdivision is pumped from wells and treated with chlorine for purification. It was noted that the water distributed in other areas is not always all that its users would like, but that the county would do everything possible to provide satisfactory water service.

Discussions were continuing shortly before noon.

Thornton Wilder dies

HAMDEN, Conn. (AP) — Thornton Wilder, who wrote the theater classic "Our Town" and collected three Pulitzer prizes for his novels and plays, is dead of a heart attack at age 78.

The playwright, novelist, teacher and traveler died in his sleep Sunday while napping at the Hamden, Conn., house he shared with his sister, Isabel, a family spokesman said.

Wilder, who wrote numerous plays and eight novels in his half-century career, was brought to the Hospital of St. Raphael in nearby New Haven about 7:25 p.m. where he was pronounced dead.

Amos Tappan Wilder, a nephew, said Wilder had been in poor health for several years but had continued to travel occasionally.

Wilder won his first Pulitzer in 1928 for the novel "The Bridge of San Luis Rey." The others were for the plays "Our Town" in 1938 and "The Skin of Our Teeth" in 1943.

He also wrote "The Matchmaker" which was turned into "Hello Dolly," the longest running broadway musical.

Wilder received in 1963 the Presidential Medal of Freedom, the nation's highest civilian citation, and was the first recipient of the National Book Committee's National Medal for Literature, which was presented at the White House in 1967. The latter honor was for his novel, "The Eighth Day."

Wilder completed his last book "Theophilus North" in October 1973.

Beirut paralyzed by fighting

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Heavy fighting between Beirut's Moslem and Christian armies paralyzed the Lebanese capital today for the second successive day.

The government warned residents to stay off the streets and closed schools and all public offices.

There were savage rocket and mortar duels during the night between the Christian stronghold of Ein Rumanne and the neighboring Moslem area of Chiayah, one of the chief battlegrounds in the eight-month-old civil war.

There was small-arms and rocket fire all morning in several other areas, including the middle-class Qantari district and the seaside hotel area that was the center of fighting three weeks ago.

Heavy explosions from shoulder-fired grenades boomed out there and in the downtown commercial center near the palm-fringed Martyr's Square that was once the center of Middle East commerce.

The outnumbered security forces stayed out of the combat zones, and there was no accurate estimate of casualties.

For seven hours, firemen were unable to get to a fire in the fuel oil tanks of the Qantari building housing the offices of The Associated Press. They worked their way in by late morning and put out the fire, but smoke still filled the building, and gunmen battling in the streets prevented movement in the area.

Premier Rashid Karami summoned his cabinet to discuss Interior Minister

Camille Chamoun's demand for declaration of a state of emergency. That would provide an opening for use of the 18,000-man army for the first time, but Karami is a Moslem, and the Moslems oppose intervention by the army because most of its officers are Christians, as Chamoun is.

The fighting resumed Saturday after Christians and Moslems massacred more than 50 persons they stopped at roadblocks. The right-wing Christian Phalange party claimed the Moslems murdered four Phalangists. Christian militiamen began executing Moslems in retaliation, and this resulted in more Moslem murders of Christians. The Phalangists admitted to 40 of the 56 executions reported but said their men acted against the orders of their officers.

The renewal of hostilities shattered a two-week ceasefire, the 13th since civil war broke out in April.

Perfect marks keep Lions, Tigers at top of standings

By PHIL LEWIS
Record-Herald Sports Editor

The Washington C.H. Blue Lions and the Circleville Tigers are sitting comfortably at the top of the South Central Ohio League basketball standings after two rounds of league play.

Both teams are undefeated, but Circleville has played a non-league game and has one more victory under its belt than Court House.

The league leaders have posted impressive victories in both SCOL contests — the Blue Lions' 75-70 win over Madison Plains wasn't quite as close as it sounds having held at least a ten-point lead most of the way until the lead was cleared in the final minutes.

Four league teams are lumped in the middle of the standings with identical 1-1 marks. Greenfield McClain has posted a non-league win and Hillsboro has played only league games — a situation that will change tomorrow night when the Indians take on visiting Fairfield.

The other two teams with 1-1 records are Miami Trace and Wilmington. The Panthers lost the league opener to Wilmington and the Hurricane dropped Friday's contest at Hillsboro. Both teams dropped their lone non-league games so far this season.

Miami Trace handed Madison Plains its third loss of the season Friday, but the Golden Eagles came back Saturday night to knock off non-league opponent Clark Southeastern, 48-40. Guard Rick Timmons, who had been leading the Eagles in scoring until being held to just nine points by Trace, paced the Madison Plains attack with 16 counters.

Southeastern's Chris Robinson led all scorers with 17 points.

Despite breaking into the win column for the season, Madison Plains shares the league cellar with Unioto, a 59-44 loser to Adena Saturday night.

The Tanks are now 0-3 on the year after being blasted by both Washington C.H. and Circleville. Steve Uhrig led the Shermans' erratic offense with nine points against Adena. Clark Gilmore scored 19 points for the winners.

Except for Hillsboro, SCOL teams are idle until Friday night, when another night of full league games are slated.

Both Circleville and Washington C.H. will put their perfect marks in jeopardy. The league's leading scorer, Tony Berlin, brings a tall and quick Hurricane team to Circleville and Greenfield McClain will visit Court House.

Miami Trace should have its hands full with a surprising Hillsboro squad in the Panthers' second home game.

Madison Plains and Unioto match up in the final league contest which will leave one team alone at the bottom of the standings.

Four league cagers are averaging 20 points or better in the two league contests. Wilmington's Berlin is averaging 34.5 points and is out to take a commanding lead over Court House's Chuck Byrd, who has a 26.5 average.

Circleville's George Moore is scoring at a 22-point clip in league games and another Blue Lion, Doug Phillips, rounds out the top four with an even 20-point average.

Penn St. keeps Buckeyes winless

Marquette wins, but coach unhappy

By KEN RAPPORPORT
AP Sports Writer

A sub-par performance at Marquette usually gets a tongue-lashing from the headmaster.

"We're having little breakdowns everywhere, it's all breaking down," Coach Al McGuire snapped after his third-ranked Warriors took an unimpressive 56-45 decision over Northern Michigan Saturday night. "I'm talking about more team effort and coming to play. They are just not playing."

McGuire hasn't been happy with his basketball players since their opening day effort, an 87-60 success over St. Joseph's, Ind. The Warriors played below their capabilities then, too, McGuire insisted.

Elsewhere in the country, the rest of the Top Ten played according to form. Second-ranked Maryland blasted Richmond 98-71; fourth-ranked North Carolina defeated Virginia Tech 88-75; No. 5 UCLA ripped Southern Illinois 81-60; No. 6 Louisville turned back Murray 78-59; No. 8 Tennessee nipped No. 16 Michigan 82-81 and No. 10 Cincinnati lashed South Florida 96-75.

Among the other ranking clubs, No. 11 Arizona beat North Arizona 98-81; No. 13 North Carolina State crushed North Carolina-Asheville 111-60 and 14th-ranked Alabama defeated No. 17 Providence 71-67.

Led by Larry Bolden's 19 points, Ohio State shot at a redhot 60 per cent clip in the first half, taking a 39-37 advantage into the locker rooms after the first 20 minutes.

But the second half belonged to Penn State's 6-6 Chris Erichsen and 6-8 Romel Raffin, who controlled the boards. Erichsen's tip-in with 7:23 left gave the hosts a 62-60 lead, and they never were headed again.

Bolden finished with 28 points and Craig Taylor added 16.

Erichsen led Penn State with 20 while Raffin had 12.

Elsewhere on the Ohio scene Saturday, 10th ranked Cincinnati, Dayton and Xavier cruised to easy triumphs.

The Bearcats (4-0), with sophomore Robert Miller pumping in a season-high 24 points, mowed down South Florida 96-75. Dayton (2-1) shot 52 per cent and Johnny Davis poured in 21 points in a 95-58 rout of Biscayne. Xavier (2-1) thumped Thomas More 104-84 behind Gary Whitfield's 22 points.

Led by Butch Lee's 16 points, Marquette withstood a second-half rally by stubborn Northern Michigan to beat the Wildcats. The Warriors stopped Northern Michigan cold for the first six minutes and 47 seconds and took an 8-0 lead. A rash of turnovers and bad passes allowed Marquette to build a 20-9 lead with about seven minutes left in the first half.

The Wildcats closed the gap to 20-15 with 5:51 left on long outside shots by Bill Uelmen and Kurt Ekberg, but the Warriors ran off six unanswered baskets to lead 32-21 at intermission. In the second half, Lee hit two outside shots to make it 36-25 and Marquette extended the lead to as much as 43-27 with about 12 minutes to play.

Led by Steve Sheppard and John Lucas, Maryland's Terps rolled past Richmond. The Terps, who won their first two games by an average of 50 points, were never more than seven points ahead of the Spiders until they broke it open with a 14-1 spree with just under seven minutes remaining.

Sheppard scored four of the points and Lucas added three as the Terps moved from a 72-68 advantage to a comfortable 86-69 margin with 3:23 left.

Mitch Kupchak's 24-point, 13-rebound performance led North Carolina past Virginia Tech. The Tar Heels fashioned their victory without the help of back-court ace Phil Ford, who sat out the second half with an injured knee.

UCLA rolled over Southern Illinois behind Ralph Drollinger's 16 points and 14 each from Marques Johnson and Richard Washington.

The Bruins broke open the game with a 17-4 blitz to start the second half. It was the Bruins' 83rd consecutive victory at Pauley Pavilion. Their last home loss was to Southern California on March 6, 1970.

Sluggish Louisville ran off a 13-2 streak in the first six minutes of the second half and the Cardinals went on to beat Murray with ease. Louisville trailed 25-18 at one point in the first half, but closed within 31-28 at halftime and then exploded in the final period.

Rick Wilson, who led all scorers with 22 points, and Phillip Bond each hit two field goals, Ricky Gallon hit a layup and Terry Harmon added a three-point trip for a 41-33 Louisville lead with 14:45 left.

Tennessee, hitting 11 of its first 13 field goals but leading by only 10 points at halftime, survived a second-half rally by Michigan and won a battle of national basketball powers. Trailing 53-39, Michigan got hot and made 11 of 12 baskets from the field to close the gap to 71-69 and the game remained close to the end. Bernard King, Tennessee's 6-7 sophomore ace, hit 13 of 16 field goals to lead the Vols with 27 points. But it was Mike Jackson's free throw with 12 seconds left that gave Tennessee a three-point cushion at 82-79 and the winning margin.

Adrian Dantley's 26 points and a tough defense helped Notre Dame beat Texas Tech.

Center Robert Miller scored a season-high 24 points as Cincinnati whipped South Florida. Nine points in the final four minutes of the first half by Bob Elliott triggered Arizona past Northern Arizona.

Kenny Carr poured in 39 points to lead North Carolina State past North Carolina-Asheville and Leon Douglas scored 19 points and collected 16 rebounds to pace Alabama past Northern Arizona.

Bonds' performance far overshadowed his more ballyhooed West teammate, Gene Swick. College football's all-time yardage gainer managed a paltry 70 yards, hitting but three of nine passes.

"There was no use throwing in weather like this. Sure, I'm disappointed, but I have two more bowls to prove myself to the scouts," said the first player ever to surpass 8,000 career yards.

Ross scores both TD's

West victorious in Shrine Bowl

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Jay Bonds was one football player not out to impress the professional scouts who spied on the West's 17-7 victory Saturday over the East in the All-Ohio Shrine Bowl. But he did.

"I was just up here to have a good time, to enjoy myself," said the 203-pound University of Cincinnati running back shortly after he won the game's Most Valuable Player award.

"I figured the scouts knew enough about me from watching our regular season games," said Bonds, whose 129 yards rushing powered the West to its first victory in four tries.

Bonds' performance far overshadowed his more ballyhooed West teammate, Gene Swick. College football's all-time yardage gainer managed a paltry 70 yards, hitting but three of nine passes.

Steve Ross of Ashland scored on runs of three and two yards and Greg Schowarber of Dayton kicked a 25-yard field goal for the West. Greg Kokal drilled an 11-yard pass to Ohio University's Mike Green for the lone East touchdown.

The scouts, however, were not dismayed over Swick's offday in rain-slickened Ohio Stadium.

"He just gets you in the end one. He's not bomb conscious. He's a carbon copy of Fran Tarkenton," said Buffalo scout Elbert Dubenion of the 6-foot-1, 188-pound Swick.

Said Roosevelt Brown of the New York Giants: "Swick reads defenses very well. He has the ability to avoid the pass rush. He delivers the ball very quickly on short passes."

Dick Crum, the Miami coach who directed the victory, said the West's original plan was to pass more with Swick. "But the football was like a sponge," he said.

Jerry Schweikert of John Carroll, the losing coach, said, "We couldn't sustain any momentum. Nothing went right for us."

Steve Ross of Ashland scored on runs of three and two yards and Greg Schowarber of Dayton kicked a 25-yard field goal for the West. Greg Kokal drilled an 11-yard pass to Ohio University's Mike Green for the lone East touchdown.

Third-stringer paces Dolphin win

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

He was just a kid, they said. In his first two years as a reserve quarterback, a third-stringer, he hadn't thrown the ball even once. In this, his third year, he'd thrown it only five times — and that in a game that was already decided.

How in the world, they wondered, would this lanky, raw kid take over as a starter and direct a team fighting for its life in the National Football League?

He did it just fine, thank you.

"It's not my nature to be nervous," Don Strock said after passing for two touchdowns and running for one to lead the Miami Dolphins to a 31-21 victory over the Buffalo Bills. "I wasn't scared. I slept like a log last night, but I probably won't sleep tonight."

In Sunday's other games it was Baltimore 21, the New York Giants 0; St. Louis 31, Dallas 17; Washington 30, Atlanta 27; Pittsburgh 31, Cleveland 17; Cincinnati 31, Philadelphia 0; San Diego 28, Kansas City 20; Minnesota 24, Green Bay 3; Los Angeles 14, New

Anderson back in form for Bengal win

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Someone remarked that the hardest shot Cincinnati quarterback Ken Anderson took all afternoon was when he dug his elbow into his stomach while putting on his socks after the game.

That about described the 31-0 Bengal victory Sunday over the hapless Philadelphia Eagles in a National Football League game.

Anderson stood in the pocket and picked the Philadelphia defense to pieces, and when the linebackers dropped back to counter the passes, he sent his backs rippling through the defensive line.

Anderson directed an offense that riddled the Eagles for 484 yards, 226 passing and 258 rushing. The Bengals' defense was equally as effective, limiting Philadelphia to 225 yards total, intercepting four passes and recovering one fumble. It simply was no contest. The Bengals ran off 86 plays to 68 for the bungling Birds of coach Mike McCormack.

Cincinnati isn't supposed to be a running team. The Bengals usually live or die with the pass. So, where did the running game come from all of a sudden?

The Bengals' veteran coach, Paul Brown, smiled at the question. He looked like the cat who ate the canary.

"We can run when that's the nature of the game," said Brown. "Their drops were quick, they gave us the run, so we took it."

By winning, the Bengals boosted their record to 10-2, still one game behind the Pittsburgh Steelers in the American Conference Central Division. They meet Pittsburgh next Sunday, but even a victory wouldn't be enough for the division title.

Should the Bengals and Steelers wind up with identical records, Pittsburgh would win on the basis of beating more teams within the division.

North-South game

moved to Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio high school football coaches are optimistic their North-South all-star contest is on an upswing after major revamping.

"We feel we will have better representation by the players and coaches now. We want to put more emphasis on the Ohio game," said Neal Billman of Gahanna Lincoln, the coaches' president.

Billman was a prime mover in having the contest moved from Canton in August to Columbus in June in 1975. The initial contest in Ohio Stadium was a flop, drawing less than 10,000.

So the coaches, during their December meeting in Columbus Saturday, moved the 1976 game back to Friday evening, Aug. 6, in Ohio State's mammoth horseshoe.

Orleans 7; Houston 27, San Francisco 13; the New York Jets 30, New England 28, and Chicago 25, Detroit 21. Tonight it's Denver at Oakland.

Strock, a 6-foot-5, 200-pounder who had warmed Miami's bench since coming out of Virginia Tech as the nation's collegiate passing champion in 1972, went from No. 3 to No. 1 in a hurry when Bob Griese and Earl Morrall were hobbled by injuries in successive weeks. If Coach Don Shula had any reservations about how his kid quarterback would do, he didn't give any evidence of it.

"He was on his own, playcalling," Shula said. "All he needed was an opportunity and he showed that in a big way." He showed his stuff in a big hurry, too. He hit 10 straight passes and staked the Dolphins to a 21-0 halftime lead on his TD run of five yards and scoring strikes of eight yards and one yard to Howard Twilley.

The Bills charged back in the second half. O.J. Simpson scored twice on a 14-yard run and a 62-yard pass from Joe Ferguson, who also hit J.D. Hill with a 31-yard TD pass.

But the rally was offset by Norm Bulaich's one-yard touchdown run. And for Buffalo, it was too little, too late. With the loss, the Bills fell out of the playoff chase. And with the victory, Miami remained a game ahead of Baltimore in the American Conference East and set up a first-place showdown in the Colts' corral next Sunday.

Colts 21, Browns 0

"The record means a lot — if we get into the playoffs," Lydell Mitchell said after rushing for 119 yards to give himself 1,008 for the season and become the first Baltimore running back ever to hit four figures. "But individual efforts don't mean that much if we don't make it all the way."

Mitchell scored the only TD the Colts needed to make the Giants their seventh straight victim with a nine-yard run. The Baltimore defense did its part by sacking Craig Morton eight times.

Cardinals 31, Cowboys 17

Jim Hart made up for the four interceptions he threw against Buffalo on Thanksgiving Day by throwing three touchdowns in St. Louis' victory over Dallas that restored the Cardinals' sole possession of first place in the National Conference East.

The Cowboys fell into a second-place tie with Washington, their foe next Saturday.

Redskins 30, Falcons 27

Once again, Washington seemed headed for overtime when Atlanta's Nick Mike-Mayer kicked a 44-yard field goal with 61 seconds to play, tying things at 27-27.

Vikings 24, Packers 3

Minnesota's Fran Tarkenton threw two touchdown passes to John Gilliam and another to Chuck Foreman to beat the Packers and move within one TD pass of Johnny Unitas' NFL career record of 290.

Rams 14, Saints 7

Defensive end Jack Youngblood tackled New Orleans quarterback Archie Manning in the end zone for a safety and linebacker Jim Peterson ran 67 yards for a touchdown with a fumble recovery to lead Los Angeles to victory.

Oilers 27, 49ers 13

Houston's defense limited San Francisco to just five net yards rushing and Billy Johnson returned a punt 76 yards late in the game to seal the Oilers' victory over the 49ers.

Jets 30, Patriots 28

Joe Namath picked apart New England's defense, hitting on 14 of 18 passes for 160 yards, and John Riggins ran for 154 yards and two touchdowns as the Jets snapped an eight-game losing streak.

Bears 25, Lions 21

Good Foot Care Prevents Corns

I get corns on my little toes. They incapacitate me. My chiropodist says there is a new kind of treatment for them with silicone. Is this safe?

Miss H.B., N.C.

Dear Miss B.:
A corn is nature's protective device when constant pressure is made on the area by a poor-fitting shoe.

It must be remembered that loose-fitting shoes can be responsible, as well as tight-fitting shoes.

In a recent edition of the Archives of Dermatology, published by the American Medical Association, an interesting new form of treatment was suggested. Dr. S.W. Balkin, of Los Angeles, has been using injections of liquid silicone to relieve the severe pain of corns and calluses.

This may be the form of treatment that you refer to. It must be noted that in the article it is stated, "The silicone used by Dr. Balkin was obtained in 1963 prior to the Food and Drug Administration regulations and ban on shipments of the product."

Dr. Balkin says, "The material is not generally available for use by physicians at this time."

You should, under the circumstances, concentrate on protecting your feet with properly fitting shoes and foam pads, in order to reduce your "miseries."

The tips of my fingers have been getting thicker over the years. My brother had the same thing when he was my age. I am 52.

Mr. E.E.R., W. Va.

Dear Mr. R.:
There may be some hereditary factor. Yet I do believe that this condition, known as "clubbing" of the fingers, should be investigated from another point of view.

A relationship exists between clubbing of the fingers and chronic lung conditions. Bronchitis, emphysema, and bronchiectasis have been known to be associated with clubbing of the fingers.

This is easy to check by X-ray and general examination.

Is there a special age when a child born with cleft palate should have an operation?

Mrs. J.D., Iowa

Dear Mrs. D.:
Remarkably delicate operations are now being performed by "microscopic" surgery for cleft palate and harelip.

The advances of modern anesthesia make the operation a very safe one, even at the earliest age. The choice of time varies with the individual child and the judgment of the surgeon.

DR. LESTER COLEMAN has prepared a special booklet entitled "How to Prevent Corns" which probes this grave problem and offers helpful advice. For your copy, send 25 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lester L. Coleman, M.D., (Alcoholism booklet), P.O. Box 798, Grand Central Station, New York City 10107. Please mention the booklet by title.

Officers complete burglary reports

An inventory of what was stolen during a burglary between midnight and 8 a.m. Saturday at the Sagar Dairy store located at 1304 N. North St., has been completed.

The Record-Herald reported the incident in Saturday's edition, but it was not yet known what all was taken.

Fayette County Sheriff's deputies reported 16 cartons of Winston and Marlboro cigarettes, five cases of Stroh's beer, two cases of Genesee Cream Ale and two cases of Little Kings removed from the store which was entered by breaking out the glass in the front door. Investigation is continuing.

A second burglary in the area reported by sheriff's deputies occurred at Jone's Marathon station, 1404 N. North St., between 1:30 a.m. and 8:05 a.m. Saturday. Again the front door glass was broken out. Deputies stated cabinet drawers were ransacked, but reported nothing taken.

Deputies also reported a dog bite and a blood relay and the Washington C.H. Police Department investigated an incident of criminal mischief and reported an ill person and a missing juvenile.

Richard Glen, 15 and Robert D. Barton, 10 both of Bloomingburg, were CLINTON, N.J. (AP) — Bob Dylan, Allen Ginsberg, Joan Baez.

They all went to a small prison auditorium Sunday to publicize the cause of Rubin "Hurricane" Carter, a former boxer seeking a new trial on his conviction of murdering three men in 1966.

Poet Ginsberg, who sang in the program, said before the concert, "There was a sense that protest was dead in the artistic community. But this concert tonight is a symbolic sense of the 1970's commitment."

Singer Joan Baez said, "I think this is the greatest chance any of us will have to show our real artistic concern."

bitten by dogs at Bloomingburg Trailer Court, at 5:30 p.m. Sunday. The youths were treated and released at Fayette Memorial Hospital.

Fayette County Sheriff's Deputy Dave Krupla participated in a blood relay at 11:15 a.m. Saturday for Fayette Memorial Hospital.

All four tires on a truck belonging to Arthur Nichols, 213½ N. Hinde St., were slashed sometime between 1:30 a.m. and 11 a.m. Sunday while the vehicle was parked in front of his residence, city police reported.

Patrick A. Vandemark, 14, of 1546 Washington Ave., was reported by police as missing since Thursday afternoon. He was last seen at the Washington Middle School, where he is a student. Vandemark is described as five feet seven inches in height and 125-130 pounds in weight, having blue eyes and short light brown hair. Anyone having information as to the boy's whereabouts should contact police.

Richard L. Hogg, Fort Pleasant, W. Va., became ill at the H and H Bar, 203 E. Court St., at 6:47 p.m. Sunday with extreme stomach pains. He was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital, treated and released according to police.

11 persons killed on Ohio highways

By The Associated Press

Eleven persons died in Ohio weekend traffic accidents, the Ohio Highway Patrol reported today.

The dead included two men killed when their cars collided Saturday on a Summit County road, one pedestrian and one motorcyclist.

The 11 deaths compare with 15 over the long Thanksgiving holiday weekend.

The count began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

The dead:

SUNDAY

GIRARD — Anthony Filaccio, 45, Girard, in a one-car accident in Girard. NEW PHILADELPHIA — Shirley Hockenberry, 19, of Tuscarawas County, in a two-car accident in New Philadelphia.

CLEVELAND — Estelle Ewell, 54, of Cleveland, in a one-car accident on a city street.

Fog, rain in southeast

By The Associated Press

Fog and rain moved into North Carolina, Maryland and Virginia on a low pressure center from the south today. The fog cut into visibility.

The only other major area of precipitation this morning was in the Pacific Northwest, where rain was triggered by a stationary frontal system. The precipitation reached from Oregon and Washington into the northern Rockies. A smaller area of light snow flurries covered North Dakota.

Most of New England, dominated by a high pressure system, had clear skies. Other large areas without clouds included parts of Texas through the southern Rockies and the intermountain region.

Mild temperatures, mostly in the 60s and upper 50s, prevailed over the Southeast from South Carolina to Florida. The Florida Keys had readings in the low 70s.

Temperature extremes over the nation ranged from 72 at Key West, Fla. to 3 below zero at Gunnison, Colo.

Lucy Page Gaston, 1860-1924, born in Delaware, Ohio, was one of the early pioneers in the war against use of tobacco.

Officers charge 2 B'burg youths

Two 17-year-old Bloomingburg boys have been arrested and charged with operating a motor vehicle without owner's consent by the Fayette County Sheriff's Department after an investigation into an accident on Lewis Road, eight-tenths of a mile north west of Bloomingburg and after crashing it into a fence owned by Roy R. Hagler, 5197 Lewis Road, walked away from the wreckage unhurt and returned home. Investigation into the incident led deputies to the youths, both of which have been released into the custody of their parents, pending a hearing in juvenile court.

Famed traveler and commentator Lowell Thomas was born in 1892 in Woodington, Darke County, Ohio.

HOLIDAY WALNUT CHEESE BALL

What you will need:
1 1/2 Cups of Chopped Walnuts
2 3 oz. Pkgs. of Kroger Dried Chopped Corned Beef
8 3 oz. Pkgs. Kroger Cream Cheese
1 Candied Cherry

How to Prepare:
Let the Cream Cheese set out at room temperature (this allows for it to soften) for 1 hour. When this is soft enough to mold with your hands, combine all 8 pkgs. in a small mixing bowl. Next, tear the Dried Beef with your hands and mold this into the cheese ball. (Form a rounded shape.)

Chopped Walnuts should be dry and sprinkled on top of a clean counter surface (Or cutting board). Roll the cheese ball on top of the walnuts until you cannot see the Cream Cheese. Top with a candied cherry.

NOTE: Minced onion may be added to cheese while it is still in mixing bowl. This will give it a tangy flavor.

Allow Cheese Ball to firm up by leaving in refrigerator for 1 1/2 hours before serving. Spread on top of a Wheat cracker or on to finger sandwiches.
